Knitflix & Chill: "Josie and the Pussycats"

Dujour means friendship, family, and on February 13, Dujour also means Knitflix! Bring your knitting, crocheting or any mess-free craft to celebrate Galentine's Day with your pals!

No yarn? No problem! Harvester Arts will have yarn, crocheting supplies, and wine available in their space to help you get started from until 6PM. Afterwards, head into the film center to settle in.

Snacks will be available for purchase, and movie magic is guaranteed. Let's stitch, sip, and swoon together!

Voyage to Vienna presented by the Wichita Symphony Orchestra

Travel to the heart of classical music with works from three centuries. Haydn's elegance, Brahms's powerful lyricism, and Clyne's contemporary drive make this a compelling celebration of orchestral music.

Anna Clyne's Restless Oceans draws inspiration and its title from a poem by Audre Lorde and was written to rouse the orchestra through the use of their voices, ultimately calling them to stand united.

Honoring African American Scientists and STEM Leaders at Exploration Place

In collaboration with The Kansas African American Museum for the fifth year, Exploration Place will be featuring a large-scale outdoor exhibit during Black History Month. Each night during February, Exploration Place will honor African American scientists and STEM leaders by projecting giant portraits onto the side of its iconic island building. The display will be freely viewable from the path along the Arkansas River. Visitors also may take in the display from inside Exploration Place on Thursday nights, when the museum is open until 8 p.m. Admission is not required to view the display from the Exploration Place promenade.

Changing weekly throughout the month, the display will honor Wichitans' contributions to Black history.
